Re: Variant Text Proposal for Freshman English

I'd like to employ a variant text for my E308PC class for Fall 1983. The book is Patterns in Popular Culture, edited by Harold Schechter and Jonna Gormely Semeiks, published by Harper & Row.

I've used this book for several semesters with good results. The text's use of Jungian archetypes helps students see connections between popular culture and serious literature, foments some fine discussions, and seems enjoyable to most parties.

Please contact me if you need any further information in reaching your decision. Thanks for your time.
